

Dear Friends,

HO CHI MINH

Greetings from Vietnam!!! I'm still here plowing along the Ho Chi Minh trail. As you can imagine for some folks the conflict has never ended. After having some powerful services this last week I was cruising back to my residence on a small motorbike. Suddenly this wild Vietnamese man came flying up from behind me. I was driving across a bridge doing about 40 mph when this character came out of nowhere. Without warning he started ramming his motorbike into the side of mine! I was shocked but for some reason I didn't panic or lose control although Rambo continued his assault. I couldn't get away from this guy he kept trying to run me off the road. I wasn't sure how to handle the situation. Going to the local authorities definitely wasn't the answer so naturally I began to pray. After crossing this large bridge I realized I needed to resolve the situation immediately. I did u-turn and drove under the bridge and sure enough Rambo followed me! I quickly pulled over and jumped off the motorcycle. He stopped and glared at me for few moments so I bought a couple of coconuts from the local street vender. I guess this demoniac wasn't thirsty because he suddenly took off for his next mission!!!

And this Gospel of the kingdom will be preached in all the world as a witness to all the nations, and then the end will come.

Matt 24:14

Speaking of coconuts,

I finally had a chance to follow up on Nhuan the coconut victim. I thank God that this guy survived his head trauma. He has cheated death and escaped hell but he still needs a miracle. His eyes are blind and his body still hasn't fully recovered. I just recently had my first opportunity to bring him the good news. After sharing the gospel, he didn't hesitate to repent and put his faith in Jesus. Please pray for another miracle, pray that his blind eyes will open!!! After leaving Nhuan's house the monsoon rains escorted me back to Ho Chi Minh. The rains battered me for nearly 3hrs. It was a circus act floating back on a motorcycle.

Returning to America

I'll be returning to America at the end of August. I had to push back my return dates a couple of weeks. Trying to find a reasonable ticket in August was outrageous! I couldn't find anything without feeling like I was being violated. I'm looking forward to coming home but I'm not planning to stay to long. I'll only be back during September & October. I'm still working on my itinerary so if you would like see my smiling face please contact me and we'll work something out!!!

My dear friends I can't believe how quickly time is flying. I'm learning to cherish every moment and I'm trying to take advantage every opportunity. The fear of God grips me when I think of the responsibility that God has given each of us. Thank so very much for all the sacrifices you have made. Lives are being eternally changed.

Love in Jesus, Barron
